(1908-1998)

Johansen International Competition

For Young String Players Ages 13-17

The Johansen International Competition (JIC) for Young String Players was founded through the generosity of Anna Storch Johansen of Falls Church, VA, a Life Member of the Friday Morning Music Club (FMMC). Held every three years, the competition was established in 1997.

In keeping with Mrs. Johansen's wishes, the competition encourages younger musicians with significant prize awards at a time when they need it most – when they must make decisions about continuing with their dedication to music.

Recalling a New York City gold medal she won when she was just 17 years old, Mrs. Johansen credited that experience with helping her decide to make music her life-long effort. By establishing the Johansen International Competition (JIC), she hoped to pass that encouragement on to new generations of string players. Mrs. Johansen expressed these sentiments during an interview about her decision to fund the competition and put it under the guidance of the FMMC Foundation. Funding for the JIC comes from the Trust Fund that she had originally established to pay for the long-term care of their son, Gustave, who was injured as a teenager. He died before both of his parents, and they chose to use the money in the Trust to help future generations of teens.

A violinist and FMMC member for over fifty years, Mrs. Johansen was elected to Life Membership in 1994. Her affection for the Club and her commitment to the encouragement of young musicians was demonstrated in 1990, when she funded the FMMC High School Competition for Strings in memory of her late son, Gustave N. Johansen. This local competition is open to high school students in the Washington, DC, metropolitan area.

Born into a musical family, Mrs. Johansen began to study piano at an early age and added the violin at age nine. Her father and first violin teacher, Alfons Storch, was a violinist in the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra for 45 years. His three brothers, also string players, were associated with major symphony orchestras. She later studied with Victor Kuzdo, an associate of Leopold Auer. She studied at the Baltimore Conservatory of Music and the Peabody Institute. Mrs. Johansen played with the Baltimore Symphony and often performed at FMMC concerts.

The Friday Morning Music Club, Inc.

The Friday Morning Music Club (FMMC) – which is currently celebrating its 125th year – has promoted and performed classical music in the Washington, DC, area since 1886. It is one of the oldest organizations of its kind in the US. Initially, it was a club of fifteen women who performed on Friday mornings in each others' homes. The FMMC is now a community of roughly 700 musicians and music lovers that produces over 80 free public concerts each year, and sponsors both local and international competitions for young artists. A founder of the National Symphony Orchestra and contributor to the development of the Washington Performing Arts Society, the Club continues to work with these and other organizations to make live classical music available to all.

The Club presents numerous performances, such as weekly concerts on Fridays at noon at the Calvary Baptist Church in Washington; concerts at Strathmore Mansion in North Bethesda, MD; Dumbarton House in Georgetown, DC; the Ellipse Arts Center in Arlington, VA, and many other venues. Members of FMMC perform as soloists and in chamber groups. There is an orchestra and chorale, as well as master classes and a music outreach program that brings concerts to retirement centers and nursing homes. All events are free and open to the public.

Membership in the FMMC is open to any lover of music and to those who wish to support the presence of music in our community. With no paid staff, the Club and the FMMC Foundation, Inc. (which sponsors our international competitions, such as the Washington International Competition and the Johansen International Competition for Young String Players) must rely on its members to take on the many tasks that make our programs possible. To support its free programs, the Club relies on annual dues, special gifts from members and the community, and bequests to its Endowment Fund. The Club participates in the United Way Campaign (designate #8624) and in the Combined Federal Campaign (designate #38448). Contributions are tax deductible under section 501(c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code. All donations are welcome, and can be made on our website with a credit card, or by mailing a check.

The Friday Morning Music Club Foundation, Inc.

The Friday Morning Music Club Foundation, Inc, sponsors the Johansen International Competition (JIC) for Young String Players and the Washington International Competition (WIC).

The FMMC Foundation was organized in the 1940s to assist gifted young musicians in their studies and careers prior to obtaining professional management. Since 1950, the Foundation has sponsored the WIC in a three-year rotation for piano, strings and voice. Included among the winners of the WIC are such renowned artists as Jessye Norman, Ralph Kirshbaum, and Robert McDonald. In 1976, the Washington International Competition for Composers was added. The Johansen International Competition for Young String Players (JIC) was founded in 1997, and is held once every three years. Among past JIC winners is cellist Narek Hakhnazaryan, who won the 2011 Tchaikovsky Cello Competition.

FINALS BEGIN SATURDAY MORNING

THREE-MINUTE CHACONNE

Lately, my compositional output has consisted of larger works such as concerti and oratorios. When asked by the Friday Morning Music Club Foundation to compose a work for the 2012 Johansen International Competition, I was intrigued by their request to keep the piece “within three minutes,” a consistent requirement in the previous commissions for this competition. As a composer, this presented me with a particular challenge of being extremely brief and concise.

It seemed to me that I should focus on a small amount of material and develop it rapidly. Luckily, there was a prototype for such a form: a chaconne (a form utilized commonly in the Baroque era where a composer repeats continual variations upon a harmonic progression). The brief melodic theme of the chaconne is presented in the beginning with its long arching lines. Immediately following are five variations separated only by slight pauses. The first variation is brooding, the second is a bit more kinetic, the third utilizes harmonics (very light ethereal tones), the fourth variation builds energy in a fast tempo, and the fifth explodes in double stops (multiple pitches played at once on the instrument). The chaconne concludes triumphantly harkening back to the opening material.

—Jonathan Leshnoff

THE COMPOSER

JONATHAN LESHNOFF

Nominated for a 2012 Pulitzer Prize in Music for his 2011 oratorio, “Hope,” Jonathan Leshnoff’s star has become ever so brighter. Commissioned by the Kimmel Center for the Performing Arts, the oratorio was premiered by the Chamber Orchestra of Philadelphia and Robert Minczuk during the Kimmel Center’s inaugural International Arts Festival in 2011. Also during the 2011 season, the Philadelphia Orchestra, under the direction of Robert Spano, premiered his flute concerto, which was written for Principal Flutist, Jeffrey Khaner. In addition, a new orchestral work, “Starburst,” was premiered by Marin Alsop and The Baltimore Symphony. And his “Yiddish Suite” was premiered in 2011 by Gil and Orli Shaham at the 92nd Street Y in New York.

In addition to the premiere of his “Three-Minute Chaconne” at the 2012 Johansen International Competition for Young String Players, additional 2012 world premieres include the Concerto for Orchestra and Two Percussionists, which will be premiered by the Round Top Festival Orchestra conducted by Michael Stern, and his String Quartet #4, commissioned by the Carpe Diem String Quartet.

Called “the real thing” by Raymond Tuttle in Fanfare magazine, Mr. Leshnoff is rapidly rising as one of the twenty-first century’s most important composers. His work has been described as “diaphanous orchestral fabric of beautiful transparency” by the Kansas City Star, and “remarkably assured, cohesively constructed and radiantly lyrical” by the Memphis Commercial Appeal. The New York Times declared that “the afternoon’s keenest discovery was Mr. Leshnoff” in a review of his trombone concerto at Bargemusic.

He is currently creating a guitar concerto for Manuel Barrueco and the Baltimore Symphony; a cello concerto for Russian cellist Nina Kotova and the Chamber Orchestra of Philadelphia; another oratorio for the Fort Wayne Philharmonic and the Handel Society of Dartmouth; and a concerto grosso for the 60th anniversary of the Santa Barbara Symphony. There are three commercial CDs with his music on the market, two of them by the Naxos label. A third Naxos release is coming in 2012. Website: www.jonathanleshnoff.com.

Mr. Leshnoff is a professor of music at Towson University and makes his home in Baltimore. He is currently the composer-in-residence with the Baltimore Chamber Orchestra. The 38-year-old composer is also a devoted husband to his wife, Chanah, and great father to his two children, Shmuel and Temima.

THE JUDGES

HIROKO YAJIMA

Hiroko Yajima, described as an “artist of real distinction” by the New York Times has built an impressive reputation as a recitalist, soloist with orchestra and chamber musician. Born in Japan, Ms. Yajima received her early training at the famed Toho School. She won a Fulbright Scholarship at age 18 and came to the United States, where she studied with Ivan Galamian and Dorothy Delay at the Juilliard School. She is a winner of the Young Concert Artist International Competition, the Friday Morning Music Club Foundation Washington International Competition, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic String Competition. She has given four New York solo recitals.

Ms. Yajima is well known as a chamber music player, having been a member of the Lincoln Center Chamber Music Society and a long time participant of the Marlboro Music Festival. She has regularly been part of the “Music From Marlboro” touring groups. Ms. Yajima is a member of the Saito Kinen Orchestra, Seiji Ozawa, conductor, and participates regularly at its festival in Matsumoto, Japan every summer. She is a founding member of the Mannes Trio, ensemble-in-residence at the Mannes College, which won the Walter W. Naumburg International Chamber Music Award and was subsequently presented in two performances at Alice Tully Hall. Ms. Yajima is currently the chair of strings at Mannes College The New School for Music.

MICHAEL TREE

Violist Michael Tree was born in Newark, New Jersey. He studied violin with his father, and his principal teacher was Efrem Zimbalist at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

Following his Carnegie Hall recital debut, he has appeared as soloist on both the violin and viola with major orchestras, including the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, and the Baltimore and New Jersey Symphonies. He has also participated in leading festivals, including Casals, Spoleto, Israel and Aspen, and he appears annually at Ottawa, Marlboro, Santa Fe and Taos.

As a founding member of the Guarneri String Quartet, Tree has concertized throughout the world and recorded more than 80 chamber music works, among them ten piano quartets and quintets with Artur Schnabel. In 1982, Mayor Ed Koch presented the Guarneri Quartet with the first New York City Seal of Recognition. Other artists with whom he has recorded include Emanuel Ax, Richard Goode, Jaime Laredo, Yo-Yo Ma, Sharon Robinson, Rudolf Serkin, Isaac Stern and Pinchas Zuckerman.

Mr. Tree has recently founded the Schumann Trio for clarinet, piano and viola with clarinetist Anthony McGill and pianist Anna Polonsky. Mr. Tree serves on the faculties of Bard College, The Curtis Institute of Music, The Juilliard School and the University of Maryland at College Park. In 2010, he received the American Viola Society's Career Achievement Award. Mr. Tree's viola is a Hiroshi Iizuka, dated Philadelphia 1995.

RONALD LEONARD

Ronald Leonard has been known and admired as one of America's leading cellists for many years. He was principal cellist of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, where he performed many times as soloist in works by Schumann, Barber, Brahms, Beethoven, Lalo, Tchaikovsky, Berio, Barber, Tchaikovsky, Elgar, Strauss and others. Some of the conductors for these performances were Zubin Mehta, Carlo Maria Giulini, Simon Rattle, Michael Tilson Thomas, Mariss Jansons, Andre Previn and Esa-Pekka Salonen.

Mr. Leonard has always been active as a teacher, having been professor of cello at the Eastman School of Music, and Piatigorsky professor of Cello at the USC Thornton Music School. He is now on the cello and chamber music faculty member at the Colburn Conservatory of Music. He has also taught and performed at many music festivals, including Aspen, Marlboro, Musicorda, Sarasota and the Perlman Music Program.

Chamber music has always been an important interest in his life and he has performed with many of the world's top artists, including Rudolf Serkin, Felix Galimir, Itzhak Perlman, Pinchas Zukerman, and Richard Goode. He has been guest artist with many of the finest string quartets: Guarneri, Borromeo, Juilliard and American to name a few. He performs on a Peter (of Mantua) Guarnerius cello, which is the only known instrument from the hand of this fine maker.

Short pieces,” and “Dear America, II.” The newest album, “Dear Chopin, Jeszcze Polska nie zginela,” was released in Fall of 2010 and selected as the best recording of the month by Recording Arts in Nov. 2010.

Mr. Eguchi is the recipient of numerous awards and prizes, including the prestigious William Petchek Award; the William Schuman Prize from The Juilliard School for outstanding achievement and leadership in music; first prize at both the Gina Bachauer International Scholarship Competition and the Brahms Piano Concerto Competition at Juilliard; awards at the International Chamber Music Competition in Paris; and the Aleida Schweitzer Award for the outstanding accompanist at the International Wieniawski Violin Competition in Poland. Also active as a composer, Mr. Eguchi’s works include cadenzas for the Mozart Violin

Concertos K.216, K.219, commissioned by Kyoko Takezawa and Julian Rachlin, and for the Haydn Cello Concerto in C Major, commissioned by Ko Iwasaki. In 2003, Gershwin Piano Selections, arranged by Eguchi was published from Zen-On. Also, piano trio version of Faure's "Après un Reve" arranged by Eguchi was published by International Music Company.

Born in Tokyo, Mr. Eguchi received a degree in Music Composition from Tokyo National University of the Fine Arts and Music (now Tokyo University of the Arts), where he served as a faculty member for two years after his graduation. Mr. Eguchi received his Master's Degree in Piano Performance from The Juilliard School. He has studied with Herbert Stessin, Samuel Sanders, Hitoshi Toyama, Shin Sato, Akira Kitamura, Ichiro Mononobe, and Akiko Kanazawa. He has been on the faculty member of City University of NY Brooklyn College. Currently, he lives in New York and also in Tokyo, where he is an Associate Professor at Tokyo University of the Arts. He is also teaching at Senzoku-Gakuen Music College in Japan as a guest professor. Website: www.akiraeguchi.com.

ERI KANG

Pianist Eri Kang's tone beauty and compelling musicality has been hailed by audiences throughout the world. As Japanese-born Korean American Pianist, soloist, collaborative pianist and chamber musician, she has appeared frequently at the major concert halls in New York City. She has also performed in Europe, in the Far East such as Korea and Japan, and throughout the United States. She has received rave reviews from major newspapers and music magazines such as the Los Angeles Times, Strad magazine and Strings magazine. She has been heard frequently on NPR, WQXR, WNCN, and at numerous music festivals, including Aspen Music Festival. She has also performed highly acclaimed Piano Duo Recitals with Akira Eguchi. Ms. Kang has recorded for CD "Dear America," performing Gershwin's "Fantasy on Porgy and Bess for two pianos." This CD has been selected as the best new-released CD by Japanese Recording Arts magazine.

Ms. Kang received her bachelor's degree from Toho School of Music, and her Master's degree from the Juilliard School. She has studied piano with Martin Canin, Satoko Tokumaru, and chamber music with Felix Galimir. As a superb chamber musician, she has extraordinary knowledge of piano and strings literature, which she gained from experiences working with world renown violin pedagogue Dorothy DeLay and her students at the Juilliard School for many years. Ms. Kang has served as an official pianist frequently for major violin and other string instrumental competitions in the United States, and the Sion Valais International Competition in Switzerland. She joined the piano faculty of the City University of New York Brooklyn College in 2011.

PRELIMINARY AUDITION COMMITTEE

The young contestants performing at the semi-finals and finals were selected from a pool of 149 applicants. They were auditioned by a CD screening committee comprised of five respected teachers and performers from the Washington area.

Robert Battey, cellist, studied with John Martin, Robert Newkirk, Bernard Greenhouse, and Janos Starker. He is a graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Music and the State University of New York at Stony Brook, and did doctoral work at Indiana University. Mr. Battey has an extensive career as a chamber musician, and has performed with the National Symphony and the New York City Opera. He has served on the music faculties of the State University of New York, the University of Missouri, the Levine School of Music, and the Gettysburg Chamber Music Workshop. His reviews and articles appear in Strings magazine and The Washington Post, and he blogs on Paul Katz's website Cellobello.com.

Robert Park, cellist, received his masters' and doctoral degrees in cello performance from The Catholic University of America. He studied cello with Mihaly Virizlay at the Peabody Institute, Robert Newkirk at Catholic University, Miron Yampolsky at American University, Evelyn Elsing at the University of Maryland, Gabor Magyar at the University of Illinois, and Dorothy Kempter Barrett in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Retired after 22 years service as principal cellist with The United States Army Band, he continues to perform and teach.

Jody Gatwood is Associate Professor of violin at The Catholic University of America. He studied with Ivan Galamian and Paul Mekanowitzky at The Juilliard School, which awarded him the Fritz Kreisler Scholarship. He has won prizes in the Montreal International Competition and from the Kosciuszko Foundation of New York (Wieniawski Prize) and has recorded for Sony Classical and EMI Deutsche Harmonia Mundi. He has appeared as soloist with Andre Previn and Leonard Slatkin and has been called by Yehudi Menuhin "an extraordinarily fine violinist and musician." Starting in 1984, Mr. Gatwood has organized and performed in numerous benefit concerts to awaken public commitment to the eradication of hunger and malnutrition in the world. In 1996 the Maryland/DC Chapter of the American String Teachers Association awarded him "Teacher of the Year." His students have won admission to Juilliard and Curtis and have performed with leading orchestras.

Leslie Silverfine, violinist, received her Master of Music degree from Boston University, where she studied with Joseph Silverstein and Rafael Druian. She received her BFA from SUNY at Purchase, where she studied with Charles and Heidi Castleman and Lewis Kaplan. Her professional experience includes performing with such orchestras as the National Philharmonic, the Boston Pops, the Kennedy Center Opera House Orchestra, and the National Gallery Orchestra. She performs with period instrument groups such as Opera Lafayette, Washington Bach Consort, the Cathedral Baroque Orchestra, the Wolf Trap Opera Company, and the Folger Consort. Ms. Silverfine teaches violin and viola in a private studio, and has been on the faculty of the Levine Summer String Camp and Strings Plus for 10 years. She is on the faculty of the Holton Arms School in Bethesda, MD.

Judith Silverman, violinist/violist, is a graduate of the University of Maryland and is associate principal viola of the National Philharmonic Orchestra. She has given chamber music performances in numerous venues, including the Library of Congress, Kennedy Center, Corcoran Gallery, and local universities. She maintains a private viola, violin and chamber music studio in Maryland. In 1992, Mrs. Silverman received the Chester Petranek Award from the Montgomery County Youth Orchestra, and the Outstanding String Teacher of the Year Award by the American String Teachers Association, MD/DC Chapter. In 1999, ASTA MD/DC gave her a Service-to-Strings Award for founding and co-directing, with conductor Piotr Gajewski, the National Chamber Orchestra Summer String Institute for senior high students. She continues to serve as faculty and consultant for both National Philharmonic Summer String Institutes. Mrs. Silverman serves on the Board of Directors for the Friday Morning Music Club Foundation. She also serves as the JIC House Manager/Volunteer Coordinator.

JOHANSEN COMPETITION COMMITTEE

The Johansen International Competition for Young String Players (JIC) is overseen by a hard-working committee of volunteers, and a part-time staff person.

Competition Coordinator Judith Basch Shapiro is a violinist and a graduate of Barnard College. She received a Master of Arts (Musicology) degree from Columbia University and attended the Juilliard School of Music, where she studied with Oscar Shumsky. She has appeared in solo and chamber music performances at the Library of Congress, the Phillips Collection, the National Gallery of Art, Carnegie Recital Hall, New York and Jordan Hall, Boston. She has served on the faculties of American University, University of Maryland, Tufts University, New England Conservatory Preparatory Division, Boston College, and Phillips Exeter Academy. While residing in Boston, she performed on modern and baroque violins with the Handel and Haydn Society, Christopher Hogwood, music director. Mrs. Shapiro is currently concertmaster of the Prince George's Philharmonic, and maintains a private violin studio in Kensington, MD. She joined the Friday Morning Music Club in 1964, and was named Honorary Member in 2008. She is a founding member of the Johansen Committee.

Judith Silverman, violinist/violist, is associate principal viola of the National Philharmonic Orchestra. (Read her complete bio above as part of the Preliminary Audition Committee.) She has been a member of the JIC Administrative Committee since its inception in 1997, and has served in a variety of roles, including the JIC House Manager/Volunteer Coordinator. She also serves on the Board of Directors for the FMMC Foundation.

Dr. Paul Silverman earned his Ph.D. in clinical psychology in 1964. He served as chief psychologist of the DC Youth Services Administration, and later had an independent practice in Kensington, MD. As a youth, Dr. Silverman studied cello in Newark, NJ with Barbara Reisman of the Reisman Trio and later with Oliver Edel, formerly of the Manhattan and Roth String Quartets. For 15 years, he played as a sectional and principal cellist of the Greater Rockville (MD) Jewish Community Center Orchestra. Along with his wife, Judy, Dr. Silverman has been an avid player of chamber music on an amateur and professional basis for over four decades. He has performed at Carnegie Hall, the Kennedy Center Concert Hall, Strathmore Music Center, and other venues in the Washington, DC area. In retirement, Dr. Silverman studied television and film production. He is a founding member of the JIC Committee, and has served as stage manager at the JIC semi-finals and finals and at the Winners' recitals. He also had a key role in establishing the JIC website pages and placing the application form online.

Felice Kornberg was the Director of Music at the Jewish Community Center of Greater Washington in Rockville, MD, for 28 years. She managed a resident orchestra of 70 musicians and administered the School of Music. She presented such acclaimed artists as violinists Joshua Bell and Gil Shaham, cellists Yo Yo Ma and Leonard Rose, and chamber groups such as the Beaux Arts Trio and the Emerson String Quartet. Ms. Kornberg was the first person to present the Young Concert Artists Series as part of an Urban Arts Center rather than in a university setting. Previously, she was the head of the Piano Department at Prince George's Community College, where she participated in Faculty Recitals and appeared as soloist with the Prince George's Symphony. She has appeared in recital at Weil Recital Hall and Town Hall in New York, and the Corcoran Gallery in Washington, DC. She is a member of the FMMC. Ms. Kornberg follows the careers of past JIC winners and writes the "Past Winners Update" for the FMMC website, as well as the "Where Are They Now?" column for the FMMC Newsletter.

Joyce Rizzolo is a native of New York City. At Bard College, she studied violin with Emil Hauser, founder of the Budapest Quartet. She has been a member of the Phoenix Symphony Orchestra, the Kennedy Center Opera House Orchestra, the Filene Center for the Performing Arts, and the Charleston (SC) Symphony Orchestra. Ms. Rizzolo has performed with the National Philharmonic, the Alexandria Symphony Orchestra and the Prince George's Philharmonic. She is Principal Second Violin with the Symphony of the Potomac. She joined the FMMC in 2001, and has performed at Strathmore Mansion, Sumner School Museum and Dumbarton House. Ms. Rizzolo is a member of the Board of Directors of the Left Bank Concert Society, and of the FMMC Foundation.

Executive Administrator Alice Berman played viola in the Beethoven-to-Bartók String Quartet for more than a dozen years. The quartet presented numerous performance/lecture series featuring all 16 Beethoven string quartets, the six Bartok quartets, and the quartet and quintet music of numerous composers. In addition, she has been a writer, editor, photographer and publisher for more than 30 years. She was the founding publisher and editor of Skater's Edge magazine, the Skater's Edge Sourcebook, Lamaze Parents Magazine, and Childbirth Forum. She is a former faculty member of the College of Journalism at the University of Maryland, College Park. She has worked for the JIC since 2003.
